Contents

Introduction 1

Underpinnings of the Social Edition? A Brief Narrative, 2004–9, for the Renaissance English Knowledgebase (REKn) and Professional Reading Environment (PReE) Projects, and a Framework for Next Steps
Ray Siemens et al. 3

A Digital Research Community in Medieval and Renaissance Studies: The ARC Network for Early European Research, 2005–2010
Toby Burrows 51

"A hawk from a handsaw": Collating Possibilities with the Shakespeare Quartos Archive
Jim Kuhn 67

Moving Early Modern Theatre Online: The Records of Early English Drama Introduces the Early Modern London Theatres Website
Tanya Hagen, Sally-Beth MacLean and Michele Pasin 91

Sandrart.net: An Online Edition of a Seventeenth-Century Text
Anna Schreurs, Carsten Blüm and Thorsten Wübbena 115

Virtual Restoration: The Art and Technology of "Recreating" Italian Renaissance Paintings
Diane Cole Ahl 149

Greensickness and HPV: A Comparative Analysis?
Jessica C. Murphy, William H. Hsu, et al. 171

Resuscitability and "Excellent New" Early Modern Verse
Kris McAbee 199

"Speak the Speech": Dramatic Blank Verse As a New Medium on the English Stage
Farrah Lehman 217

Broadside Love: A Comparison of Reading with Digital Tools versus Deep Knowledge in the Ballads of Samuel Pepys
Tassie Gniady 243

Emblematica Online: A Case Study in Humanities Research Projects
Kathleen Marie Smith 261

A Modest Proposal for Scholarly Publishing: 21st-Century Ideas for a 19th-Century System
Shawn Martin 285

Contributors 305